

Neighbor Sights Body Of Boat Crash Victim

The body of Craig Campbell, 40, Antioch, was sighted near the shore of Lake Marie in Antioch, at 5:20 a.m. on Aug. 5 by one of his former neighbors.

The body was floating in the water approximately 50-feet from where his pontoon boat was struck by a power boat on Aug. 1.

An autopsy performed on the body showed that the cause of Campbell's death was drowning. He had sustained several serious injuries assumedly caused by the crash, a skull fracture, abdominal trauma and lacerated limbs.

Lake County Dep. Coroner Thomas Arnold said that "If Campbell had sustained the same injuries in a land accident he probably would have made it but he was probably knocked into the water in an unconscious state."

Campbell was not wearing a life jacket when he was found and unconfirmed reports have witnesses stating that the lights on Campbell's boat went on just seconds before was hit by the power boat driven by Tim Palm, 23, Antioch.

According to Lake County Water Patrol Chief Robert Trinski, the results of a blood alcohol test taken by Palm and information on the speed the power boat was traveling at the time of the impact are being withheld pending further investigation and possible prosecution.

Sixty divers from both Lake and Kenosha Counties searched Lake Marie, especially at the crash site, for four days but could not recover it.

Residents Object To Eatery Drive-Through

by GLORIA DAVIS

Over 60 residents of the area around the intersection of Rtes. 173-83 attended the Antioch Zoning Board meeting last week to strongly object to allowing T. S. Boogies to have a drive through window. The Antioch Zoning board voted to deny the request for rezoning from B2 to B3.

The proposition returns to the Antioch Village Board (which already approved the restaurant), which will consider the request in light of the zoning board's denial.

The objections came because the residents are afraid that a drive through would add more congestion to an already congested traffic area.

Jensen's Restaurant is across the street from Boogies on one side of Rte. 83. The Squire Restaurant and Antioch High School are on the northeast corner of the intersection, Hardees and a new shopping mall are emerging at the northwest corner and Action Liquors is on the southwest corner, between Boogies and the intersection.

Michael Warren, Century 21 is the agent for Boogies, which is going into the building formerly used by James Hamlin Accounting Services.

Owner Jeff Blum, Lindenhurst, has been in the restaurant business for 10 years.

"We are going to try for the drive-through again if the village board follows the zoning board's recommendation for denial of the drive-through," he said on Tuesday. Blum is petitioning area businessmen to back him on the commercial concept of the area.

T. S. Boogies is now set to open on the Labor Day weekend, having suffered setbacks from the zoning board and also some construction hold-ups.

Although hamboogies (burgers), cheeseboogies, cheddar fries, hot dogs, etc. top T. S. Boogies' menu and customers will serve themselves at a counter, Blum says that Boogies is not fast food.

"Food will be cooked to order and we are thinking of serving it on crepe pans instead of using styrofoam for orders to be eaten in house," says Blum.

A new compact disc jukebox will also have customers boogieing to their tables.

Township Cost For Parks' Use Could Go Up

by GLORIA DAVIS

For years, residents of Antioch Twp. have made use of the Antioch Aqua Center's pool and the Village of Antioch Parks and Recreation Depts.' programs, paying the same fees as village residents.

When revenue sharing was plentiful, the township used to give parks and recreation $10,000 per year. Then it went down to $5,000 when government's funding tightened.

"Last year," said Antioch Mayor Ray Toft, "the township sent some of their people over to help in the parks maintenance, cutting grass, etc., but this year we have seen no money and no labor from the township."

Toft said that the village had done a survey and discovered that residents of the township, outlying the pool use, took advantage of the parks programs more than village residents.

"I'm sure Jimmy (Twp. Sup. Jim Fields) will give us something," said Toft, adding "if we don't get some help from the township, those residents will have to pay the same fees as people who live outside of the village and township."

This would amount to about $10 more per program and pool membership. Fields, who had just returned from vacation, said that he had to investigate the matter before he could make a comment.

When asked if the township had set aside any money for the parks department, Fields said it had not.

From May 1986-87, the parks department expended $62,788 for parks (director's salary, salaries paid for maintenance and upkeep of Antioch's four parks, Jensen, Williams, Osmond and Gage Brothers).

The cost of the chemicals and utilities used by the pool are paid for by the village and amounted to $28,914 last year.

The cost of the parks' programs (Camp Crayola, summer camp, baton twirling, basketball, bowling, etc., came to $23,334.

The income of the parks department amounted to $53,811 from May of last year to May of this year, leaving overage of over $50,000 being paid by the village.

Boy Dies In Wreck

by LARRY WITTNEBERT

A mini-motor home and Dodge van collided in rainy weather, killing a 15-year-old boy, according to the Lake County Sheriff's Office.

Reported at 3:55 p.m., the smashup occurred near the intersection of Rte. 173 and Lincoln Ave. in the Antioch Twp.

Dead is John Hansen, a passenger in the van driven by James Hansen, 20, of Lindenhurst.

James Hansen was cited for improper lane usage, driving too fast for conditions and DUI, said Captain Gene McGaughey, chief of support services for the sheriff's office.

Hansen lost control of the van and struck the front of the van, he said.

Driver of the mini-motorhome was Marilyn Efinger, 49, of Gurnee. A passenger was her son, Tony, 15. Both were taken to St. Therese Hospital in Waukegan, according to McGaughey.

Hansen and a passenger, John Edwards, 20, were transported to Victory Hospital in Waukegan.

Responding to the accident on July 31 were Illinois, Antioch and Lake Villa Police Units as well as those from the Lake Villa and Antioch Rescue Squads.

McGaughey said that both vehicles were towed away.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Wasn't it a shame that our wonderful library suffered all that water damage in the rainfall on Maxwell St. Days. I hear they had to take out carpeting that was ruined, ceilings were damaged and walls had to be washed down from the stains caused by the collapsing ceilings.

Sincere get well wished to one of Antioch's favorite citizens who has been under the weather lately, Ed Strang. News that he is now sitting up in bed is encouraging.

Thanks to the courtesy of the Antioch Police Dept., my editor Gloria Davis got her locked car door open last week when she did the dumb thing of locking it with her keys inside.

Condolences to the family of Craig Campbell, the man who drowned after the boating accident on Lake Marie. This is just another incident the proves we need more policing of the ever-growing traffic on the Chain O'Lakes.

For those of you that love those new humungus earrings, stop in at the Clothes Closet on Main St. and see their great collection of big earrings.

I still have to chuckle when I think of the look on Eric's face at Jack's Four Squires when all that water that filled the awning over the sidewalk for Maxwell St. Days, dumped over on top of him!

It's a far, far better thing that the volunteers like Ruth Yedle do working at the Antioch Mental Health Assn.'s Thrift Shop, augratis.

Was up at the Antioch Aqua Center during a recent heat spell and saw Joey Borman cooling off by jumping from the side of the pool into Linda Willis' water-laden arms.

It looks like the cleanup project on the land that used to hold Kentucky Fried Chicken, etc., in front of Jewel-Osco is about done. That job seemed to take forever!

Well Florence Babusek did the State Bank of Antioch proud in a golf tourney played at Lake Barrington Shore last week.

Wasn't it nice of the people from Henri's Salad Dressing to run a full page ad thanking the people of Antioch for their cooperation in the filming of the salad dressing company's commercial. Thanks to Zehman Associates, and especially their lovely producer Laurie Berger, for bring such interesting enjoyment to Main St.

Did you know that she was Lynn Sterbenz's roommate in college?

Even though school bells are getting ready to ring, it seems too early to say goodbye to lemonade and potatoe salad and all those outdoor events. I think winter's snows are beautiful, but the older I get, the more I wish summer was as long as winter and Jack Frost would make our area his three-month vacation spot!

Scouts Focus

The Boy Scouts of America will be taking an active role in celebrating the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution. Throughout the year, scout troops will promote a better understanding of the constitutional system and instill a commitment to citizenship in youth and adult members.

Constitutional awareness will be promoted in scout troops through discussions on history and elections, skits and plays with a constitutional theme, visits to local historical sites and to congressmen at their home offices.

Boy Scouts of America will also encourage appreciation of the values of the constitution.

ACHS Requires Shots

Due to the epidemic proportion of the mumps outbreak this past year in Illinois, there is a new requirement for all children effective for the 1987-88 school year. All students enrolling in Antioch Community High School must be immunized against mumps or present a statement from a physician that he or she has had the mumps.

Only those immunized at 12 months of age or older are considered immune. Any child receiving the vaccine earlier than 12 months, even by one day, is not considered in compliance by the state.

If a child was immunized earlier than 12 months, parents must contact their family physician, who may wish to readminister the vaccine or may consider it unnecessary.

The school will need a statement from the physician if he feels re-immunization is not recommended. All physical statements or re-immunization dates should be presented on or before registration.

'Tis the lull before the storm...the storm of protest from the children about having to return to school. # 2 Careers Under His Belt, Schaeffen's Belt Still Fits

by GLORIA DAVIS

It's been 50 years since Ben Schaeffen finished fixing the roof of the chicken house of his family's farm in Bassett and took heed of a U. S. Navy recruiting officer's invitation to see the world.

The family farm is now the site of the LaSalette Center, just outside of Twin Lakes.

Schaeffen did see much of the world, retiring from Uncle Sam's service as a chief aviation mechanic 20 years later in 1957. That was Schaeffen's first retirement.

He went to work as a custodian at Antioch High School when he got out of the navy and stayed at that job long enough to retire from there.

Now he and his wife Marie spend their summers in Antioch and Ben still does some painting at the high school. Their winters are spent at their second home in Port Rickey, Fla.

The other day, Ben decided to try on his navy uniform and was pleased to find that he had more than kept his boyish figure, as the uniform he wore 30 years ago when he retired, fit loosely.

Many of us look forward to retiring from one career but Ben Schaeffen is still going strong and "lookin' good" after completing two careers.

Dr. Albert Bucar Winner Of Another Eye Care Laurel

The National Eye Research Foundation, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to eye and health care since 1955, presented the DaVinci Award to Dr. Albert A. Bucar, OD, FFAO, DOS, of Antioch for his contribution in the field of eye and health care.

The award was presented during the Centennial of Contact Lenses, a celebration of the 100-year history of the contact lens, sponsored by the National Eye Research Foundation.

Dr. Bucar received his award for his efforts in the field of optometry. A member of the National Eye Research Foundation, Bucar is a graduate of the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago and a fellow of the American Academy of Optometry.

In 1985, he received a doctor of ocular science honorary degree from his alma mater.

Active in many national and state optometric organizations, Dr. Bucar has served as president of the American Optometric Assn., president of the Illinois Optometric Assn., and in 1970, was named Optometrist of the Year by the Illinois Optometric Assn.

The National Eye Research Foundation helped to develop contact lenses. Many of the original animal studies were first done by the foundation to prove the safety of contact lenses.

Rabbits were used at first, then humans. In the early 1950s, patients were fitted with contact lenses to show that lenses could be worn for extended periods of time.

The foundation's present objective is to develop an instrument which can be used to measure a patient's visual fields in such a manner that doctors can determine the presence of pathology.

With high technology, it is a project that would save many eyes and many lives.

Clinical research has been the backbone of the foundation, and many professions cooperate in its work. The present DaVinci Award winners are people who have participated with the foundation for many years.

LaCASA Needs Volunteers

According to the FBI, a woman is raped every seven minutes. There is no typical victim of sexual assault. Victim Advocacy is a program designed to offer support to survivors of sexual assault and their loved ones beginning in the emergency room and continuing through the healing process. LaCASA's hot line provides support, information and referrals 24 hours a day to survivors of sexual abuse and their loved ones. Staffing of victim advocacy and hot line is dependant upon community volunteers. Volunteers receive 40 hours of training which is designed to meet the needs of volunteers with little or no background in the helping professions, and provides challenging information to the more experienced volunteers. The next training class is now forming. For more information call Linda at the LaCASA office at (312) 244-1187. # Rotary Sends Erickson To Australia

by LARRY WITTEBERT

An Australian adventure awaits 16-year-old Pamela Erickson of Lindenhurst who departs Aug. 14 for her trip as an exchange student of the Antioch Rotary Club.

Erickson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Erickson, will leave from O'Hare Airport to begin her journey for the 11-month visit.

In Australia, she'll attend school while living with five different host families in the suburbs of Adelaide, capital of South Australia.

Commenting on her visit, she said, "I've always had an interest in kangaroos and thought Australia would be a really neat place to go."

"I've also always wanted to have my picture taken with a Koala Bear and to swim in the ocean."

To prepare for her trip, she has written the Australian Consulate as well as the host families.

In turn, she'll be bringing a lot of literature to inform Australians about highlights of Illinois, Lindenhurst, Antioch and Chicago.

In school there, she'll be attending the second half of the 11th grade, with the year, January to January.

"I've heard that the school system is really hard," she said, "but it will be interesting to compare and contrast the differences."

Besides attending school, she hopes to travel and sight-see with the host families.

She noted that the season will be winter when she arrives there and she expects the temperature to be in the 50s.

Her Antioch classmates are very excited about the trip, as well, she said. When she returns, she wants to continue her education and work towards becoming a lawyer. This summer, she worked at Great America and in her spare time, likes to read.

Discussing Trip

Lindenhurst Mayor Robert Ratch, right, and Stan Livermore, chairman of Antioch Rotary's Exchange Program, discuss upcoming trip to Australia being planned by Pamela Erickson, center, Antioch High School, as part of exchange program.

Week events and accompany them to campus activities scheduled for Aug. 26 through 30.

Dances, picnics and a barbecue, an activities fair, canoe rides, a beach party, a bonfire, performances by comedians and hypnotists, a games fest, and an annual community corn festival are among the events planned for Northern Premiere Week. ## Job Won't Be Easy

Sparked by a series of articles in this newspaper and associated Lakeland Newspapers, the inquiry into the workings of the Lake County Building and Zoning Dept. has moved from a newspaper investigation to a formal review by the building and health committee of the Lake County Board.

The inquiry was keyed by a direct order from Dist. 2 Rep. Helen Amendola, chairman of the building and health committee, to County Building Officer Robert Streicher to personally inspect a Lake Villa Township property for possible zoning violations. Amendola's directive, looked upon as unprecedented, underscores the seriousness of the situation and the determination of the committee to "get to the bottom" of questions involving Streicher's management of the department that has jurisdiction over all building and zoning matters in unincorporated areas of the county.

Judging from citizen complaints uncovered by Larry Wittnebert of the Lakeland Newspaper staff, Amendola's committee will be kept plenty busy. Judging from the insulated style with which Streicher operates the department, as revealed by Managing Editor Charles Johnston of Lakeland Newspapers several weeks ago, the committee's job won't be easy. Amendola's move came after two blustery sessions substantiating reports in this newspaper.

What will the committee uncover? Indifference, slipshod methods, incompetence, citizen frustration, selective enforcement, inconsistencies, to be sure. Also, the committee is certain to run into official stonewalling and a network of backscratching that Streicher has developed with other county departments in his 17 years as a county employee. As Johnston documented, Lake County's building officer is Mr. Clout.

It is encouraging that irregularities in the building office brought to light by our newspaper articles now are in official hands. That's where they should be. We feel good about the fact that our reporting helped. We wish the Amendola committee well in straightening out the mess in the building and zoning department.

The Walker Legacy

The shambles surrounding the business and personal life of former Gov. Dan Walker, who pleaded guilty last week to charges that he improperly received nearly $1.4 million loans, is no greater than the chaotic condition in which he left the state in 1977 after four years as chief executive.

Indeed, the Illinois economy still has not recovered from Walker's deficiencies in leadership and the excesses his administration permitted unions to take in forcing unrealistic compensation laws down the throat of citizens and business.

Today, Walker faces a maximum of 15 years in prison, fines of $505,000 and restitution. That's his personal burden. Ten years later, political and business leaders are trying to attain workable unemployment insurance and worker's compensation laws with which business and industry can live and support. It is ironic that those crippling compensation laws, which forced many manufacturing plants to either close their doors or flee to the Sunbelt, can now be seen as undermining labor as Illinois adapts to a service and high tech economy as opposed to heavy manufacturing.

Dan Walker's present travail is in direct contrast to his salad days in politics. With a red bandanna draped around his neck and wearing blue jeans, Walker captured the imagination of the electorate in 1971 on a nearly 2,000 mile hiking campaign of Illinois. Walker wrested the Democratic nomination for governor from the then Lt. Gov. Paul Simon and went on to unseat Republican Gov. Richard Ogilvie in the 1972 general election. Walker received no little help in gaining the nomination by mischievous GOP voters in Lake County who crossed over in the primary to vote for Walker in the mistaken belief that he would be easier for Ogilvie to knock off than Simon.

Political associates considered Walker a gambler who possessed a faith that he could overcome anything. In disgrace, former Gov. Walker says he has deep regrets and he offers no excuses. He leaves his close friends and business associates hanging in 1987 even as he left the people of Illinois hanging in 1977.

Enlightening Term Ahead

When school bells sound another term in a few weeks, they'll be tolling red ink and deficits because of the Illinois General Assembly's failure to pass a tax increase and Gov. James Thompson's budget cuts in education.

Few districts will escape deficits. In our locality, deficit swings will be more drastic because of the larger number of growth districts where increasing enrollments put greater pressure on financial resources.

While the schools are engaging in belt-tightening, educators also are hoping that legislators will vote some relief in a fall session. As Dr. Donald Skidmore of the Antioch elementary system put it, "We're hoping for some help in the fall session. If it doesn't come, we'll manage somehow."

The experience of "learning to manage" might be revealing. A good many voters are convinced that schools have been managing money (or mismanaging, depending on your viewpoint) with a blank check mentality. Legislators are reflecting the feelings of the electorate by pulling in the purse strings. On the whole, the 1987-88 term should be enlightening. Frankly, we're looking forward to it.

'Do Not Disturb' Law Likely To Heighten Florida Loneliness

by BILL SCHROEDER

Florida is more than sunshine, palm trees and sprawling condominium complexes. As residents of the sunny state discovered last week, Florida now is a "taxing" state and as of Oct. 1 will be a state where telephones will ring less and loneliness will abound.

To go along with the news that Florida has jumped into the middle bracket of the high-low range of state taxes, Floridians got the word last week that, effective Oct. 1, it will be illegal for solicitors to telephone residential customers who have unlisted numbers or have a line printed under their name in the phone book saying "No sales solicitation calls."

If solicitors break the law, they could be fined up to $10,000. Phone customers will have to pay $1 a month for the extra line of type in the phone directory, according to the telephone company.

With a $12 a year price tag on privacy, lawmakers and telemarketers alike are wondering how many people will take advantage of the new law.

We don't know if Florida is much different than Illinois, but around here a lot of nights would be pretty boring if it were not for the fact that some sales person is trying to "reach out and touch someone"—namely you and me.

The whole thing sounds pretty silly. Out-of-state companies and newspapers soliciting subscribers will be exempt, meaning that sales companies can set up shop in Valdosta or Biloxie and zero in on the poor folks across the border. The new "do not disturb" telephone law is another example of government trying to do for people something they can't do for themselves.

Don't folks in Florida know how to say "no" or hang up the phone?

Self-Insurers, Others Benefit From New Laws

Bills giving more flexibility to companies and local governments that self-insure, transferring a parcel of land under Lake Michigan to the Chicago Shedd Aquarium and extending the current state school aid formula were all signed into law during the past week, according to Republican Caucus Chair Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion).

Also, Gov. Thompson vetoed legislation designed to let the state Democratic Party absorb the Solidarity Party. While saying he is sympathetic to the plight of the Democrats, the Governor said the proposed legislation may not be constitutional.

However, Sen. Geo-Karis said the Governor withheld action on another bill which contains the Solidarity-Democrat merger provisions and may sign that measure into law if supporters can convince Thompson that it is constitutional. The Solidarity Party was formed by former candidate-for-governor Adlai Stevenson, who bolted the Democratic party after two followers of radical Lyndon LaRouche won nomination on the Democratic ticket.

The Governor said the party merger bill (SB 10) may violate the rights to free association and ballot access guaranteed by the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution, as well as the Illinois Constitution's ban on special legislation. He indicated that even if the proposal is unconstitutional, some of the objectives of the merger could still be achieved through other legislation.

Changes in state insurance laws contained in HB 2437 will enable self-insurers to take full advantage of new federal tax reform laws. The bill is also designed to encourage "captive" risk insurance companies—most of which are based outside the United States—to locate in Illinois.

Instead of buying insurance from private companies, some businesses and governments "self-insure" which means they must absorb any losses they might incur. Self-insurers may either cover their own risks or pool their resources with similar entities and form their own insurance companies. Such "captive" insurance companies, for example, may include an individual manufacturer who forms an insurance company for self-insurance or a group of manufacturers who pool their risks and resources.

The Shedd Aquarium legislation (HB 439) gives the aquarium rights to two acres of land beneath Lake Michigan. Since all land under the state's rivers and lakes is technically owned by the state, this land transfer was needed to allow the aquarium to expand.

The school aid bill (HB 915) simply extends the existing state school aid formula, but because of budget restrictions no agreement could be reached on formula changes.

County Bar Assn. Recognizes Moran

Justice Thomas J. Moran of the Illinois Supreme Court was presented with the Benedict J. Ori Award at the annual installation of officers meeting of the Lake County Bar Assn.

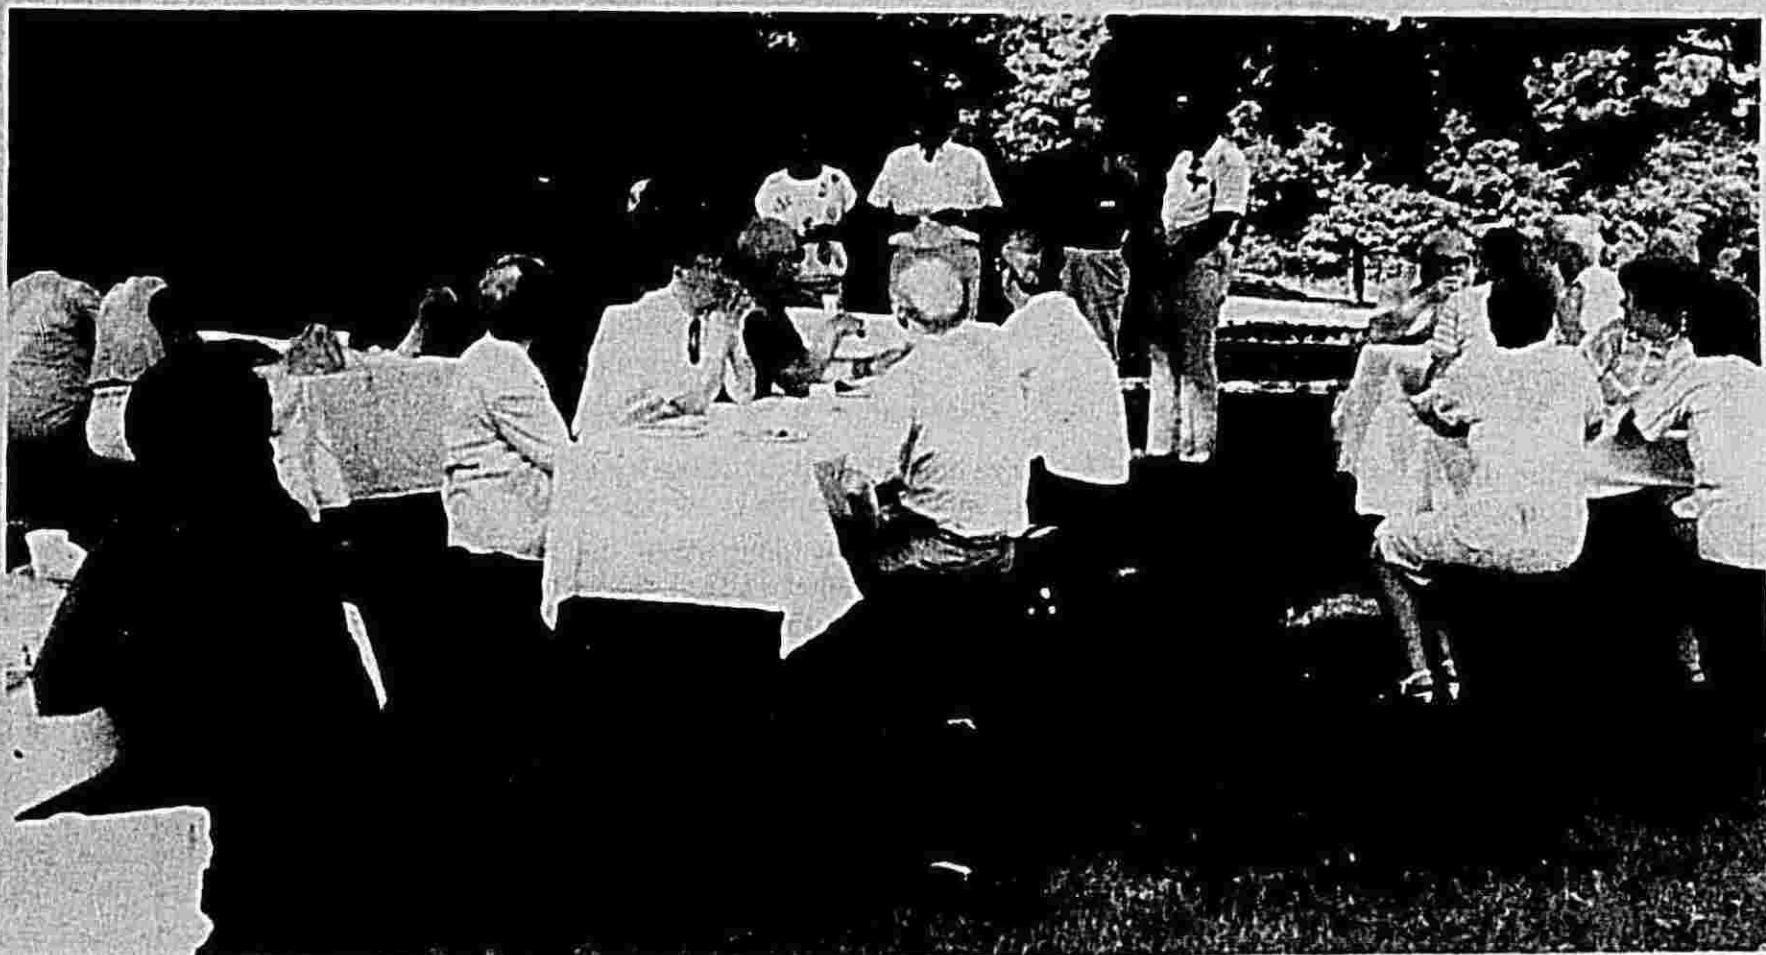

The award, established in honor of the late Benedict J. Ori, former associate judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, is given to a former prosecutor who has distinguished himself in the judiciary, private bar, and in service to the people of Lake County.

Lake County State's Attorney Fred Foreman presented Moran with the award after his selection by a committee of former prosecutors and judges.

Born in Waukegan, Moran resides in Lake Forest and maintains his offices there. A graduate of Lake Forest College and Chicago-Kent College of Law, he was in private practice for six years before being elected State's Attorney for Lake County in 1958.

He was elected a circuit judge in 1961, and served the 19th Judicial Circuit as chief judge. In 1964, Moran was appointed to the Appellate Court, Second Dist., and retained that position through election until voted on to the Supreme Court bench in 1971.

make their registrations early to ensure that they have a place in our classes."

Shimer also offers an early entrance program, an Overseas program and an internship program.

New Steps Taken To Curb Child Abuse

The increasing number of reported child abuse cases in Illinois in recent years is of great concern to many state officials. In the last year alone, the number of reported child abuse cases in Illinois rose by 30 percent statewide, compared with the preceding year.

During the 12 months ending June 1987, the state Dept. of Child and Family Services (DCFS) estimated there were 91,000 abuse cases. In addition, there were 46 confirmed cases of child abuse deaths in Illinois, with 28 more still under investigation.

DCFS says child abuse awareness is one of the reasons for the increase in reported cases. Last year, the department started an awareness campaign aimed at social workers, the general public and medical groups. Also, adding to the greater awareness of child abuse has been closer state and media scrutiny of DCFS and its operating procedure.

As reporting techniques improve and public awareness of child abuse increases, the legislature has also passed legislation which helps state officials protect the abused child while making the courtroom atmosphere more comfortable for child victims.

Some legislation recently passed includes the creation of the Emergency Assistance Fund to help families afford counseling when no other source of funds is available. This assistance is necessary to prevent family break-ups and reunite families separated by neglect or child abuse. DCFS has always tried to work out problems within the family unit before removing the child from the household.

Many new measures approved by the legislature this year are designed to reduce the trauma suffered by victims when testifying in court. Some of the legislation would allow the courtroom to be cleared before a sex offense victim under age 18 testifies and allows child sex abuse victims to testify on videotape or closed circuit

TV. The court would also be required to consider the adverse impact of a delay on child victims and witnesses before ruling on continuances.

Other legislation requires the court to restrict the defendant's access to the child victim when the defendant is the child's parent or guardian. Changes in the criminal code will make it criminal sexual assault to sexually penetrate a person under 18 if the accused is responsible for the child's welfare. Other legislation would also make it a crime to knowingly permit the sexual abuse of a child—a crime punishable by up to one year in jail and up to a $1,000 fine.

To help track down child abuse offenders, DCFS has also started hiring people with investigative backgrounds, such as former sheriff's deputies, policemen and nurses. But because of the large influx of new child abuse reports, the number of cases handled by each investigator has increased to an average of 17 investigations a month, almost five cases over the national average.

Though the problem of child abuse may never be completely eliminated, the Dept. of Children and Family Services anticipates that with increased publicity and public awareness the problem of child abuse can be dramatically reduced.

Government Sets Standard For Organ Donor Requests

The use of organ transplants as a method of saving lives is now a daily occurrence.

There is probably no more sensitive a subject than this that a hospital official must face in dealing with the bereaved. While proportionate to the effort at educating the public. Faced with a life or death situation, the demand will increase as more patients see that they may have a chance at life if transplants are available.

A new Illinois law came into effect Jan. 1. It is officially titled "Organ Donation Request Act" and calls for hospitals to routinely ask the next of kin of patients dying in the institution to donate the deceased's organs/tissue for transplant.

As of July 1, the federal government requires all hospitals receiving Medicare and Medicaid funds to have "established protocols for informing families" about the option of organ and tissue donation. This is a stronger act than the Illinois law, which applies only to hospitals of more than 100 beds.

It is important that the public understand the reasons, the needs and the way such a law works when an inpatient dies.

First, it is an option, not a mandate. Second, great care is exercised to explain that there is to be no favoritism; the rich should not get an advantage.

Third, there is great care specified as to who makes the request, usually the head of the hospital or his surrogate.

Fourth, the request for donation is to be directed at the next of kin designated "the highest priority relative." This, in descending order, is spouse, adult offspring, parent, adult brother or sister, and guardian. If a priority relative equal or superior to the signer objects, the tissue or organ gift cannot be accepted. Coroner cases may, in rare instances, result in removal of organs by his/her permission.

There may be no requests for donations if the deceased has already signed, if the hospital is aware that the deceased or the highest priority kin objects, if it is contrary to religious belief of the deceased, or if there is no need for the organ as designated by the Public Health authorities. In addition, it becomes obvious that the organ should not be requested from diseased or very aged decedents.

Musings has given an almost verbatim copy of the main parts of the law. Most of us know that there is a place on the back of our new driver's license where we may sign to show intent to be a donor. You don't have to sign this to get a license renewed, and are entitled to an explanation before signing.

States which have started this program have had a significant increase of donors. The rather startling aspect of the programs is that as a specialty, transplant surgery started only about 30 years ago. The first two-thirds of that time was spent in early learning fairly basic surgical techniques. The techniques grow more sophisticated now by leaps and bounds. The rejection of donor tissues by the recipient is the next problem. It is somewhere in the learning phase and making strides, especially in the last five years.

The problem of donor numbers and their availability at time needed is the new frontier. It's unlikely that there will ever be enough donors available to match the need exactly when it arises. But there are more donors and more lives saved each year in this new frontier as understanding grows.

facing the grief occasioned by loss, sometimes sudden, they individually or in concert must make a further call on emotions already stretched to the limit.

Resource Conservation Is Everyone's Concern

It was nearing dusk on the Chain O'Lakes and we were enjoying an evening boat ride. Winds become calm, and colorful cloud formations of a sunset can be thoroughly enjoyed above the shoreline silhouette from the water's unobstructed panorama.

As we cruised leisurely, a fast moving, everywhere. It's up to the boater to be a captain, not a catastrophe.

It makes one wonder about the leisurely pace of the anglers in a bass boat. Recently, a 20-footer with a 150 hp outboard racked up 92 mph over a speed course. . . Wonder why?

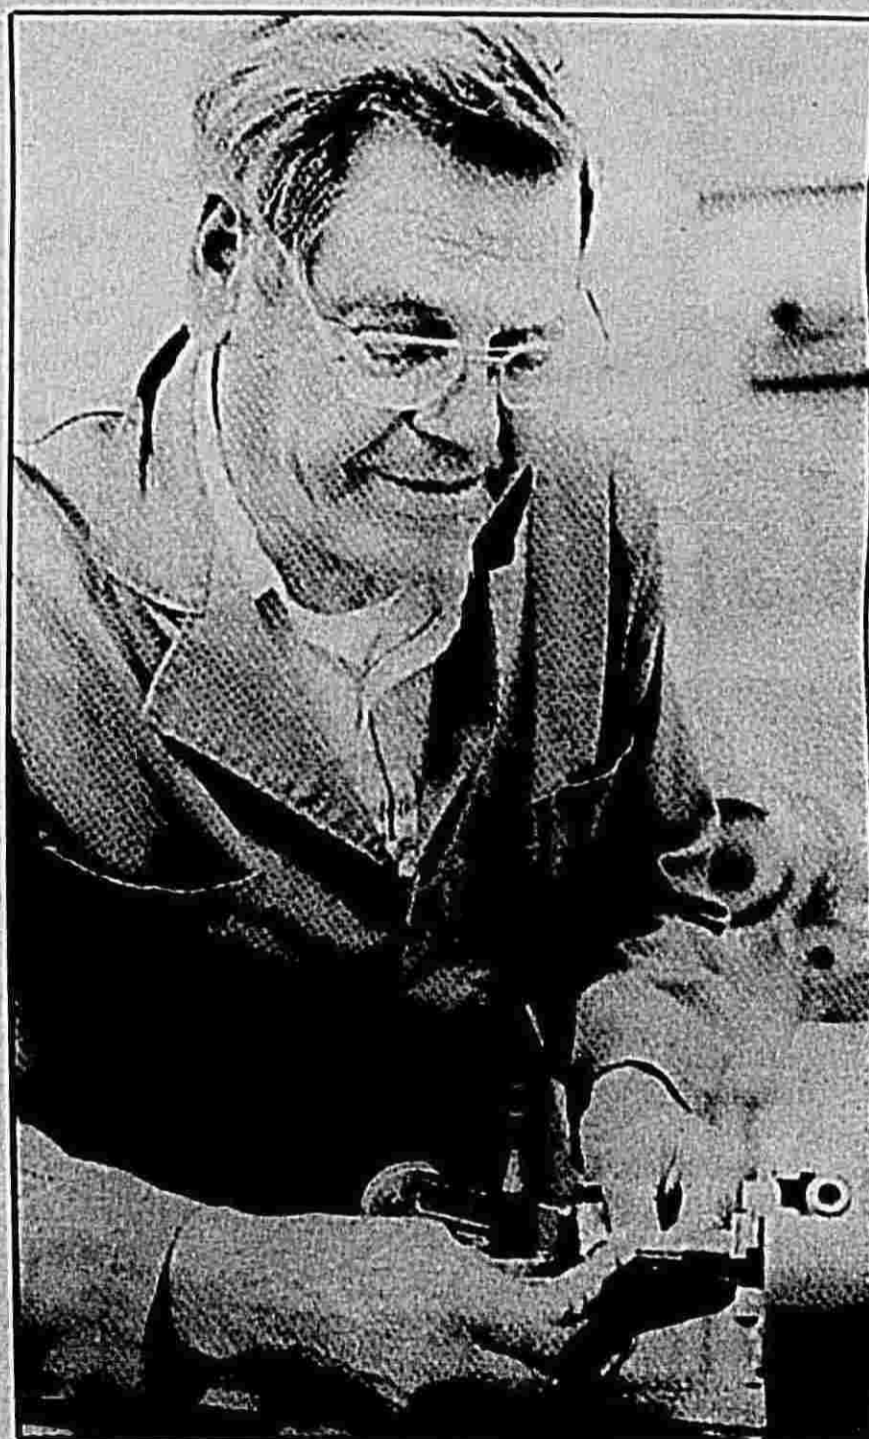

Conservation of natural resources is a concern to all those who appreciate the outdoors. These resources, unfortunately, often become money makers for unconcerned individuals and groups. Each time a natural resource problem occurs, greed is strongly in the background.

Of recent vintage, natural oil captured the limelight as nature's bounty became the source of great wealth. Though the embargoes have tapered, the threat continues.

As availability resumed, motor fuel prices dropped to a more affordable figure, but are again creeping upward due to the greed which is often labeled "need" by those who reap huge financial benefits. At any rate, this has produced vehicles which are more fuel efficient and conserve nature's resources.

Electricity is the next supply to be streamlined, pursuant to U.S. Dept. of Energy regulations. Last year, Congress passed the National Appliance Energy Conservation Act. It provides that new efficiency standards be set. The goal is to make the broad appliance field function efficiently while using 15 to 25 percent less electrical energy. Once standards are set, manufacturers have five years to comply. This may explain why electrical providers want to upgrade rates at this time. It's insurance against more efficient electrical utilization, which can mean less need within a decade. Chicagoland's heavy 15 million electrical kilowatt use days of a hot summer could drop to 11 million under these circumstances. This would result in less consumption of natural resources. We should all be for that.

DOCTOR'S FORUM

The state of Illinois requires that physical examination be done for school children entering kindergarten or first grade, fifth grade and high school. It further mandates that these school children comply with the immunization schedule required by the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Whenever the state makes a law regarding the health care of children, one has to ask at least two questions: Is it reasonable and is it practical?

How reasonable is this law? From my point of view it is very reasonable. In order to prevent the spread of a communicable disease in the community, there must be a certain percentage of the people who are immune to the disease either by immunization or previous illness. I do not know of any better way of accomplishing this and at the same time protect the health of school children.

How practical is it to comply with the law? There are a sufficient number of physicians in the community who can provide the services without the inconvenience of traveling long distance to obtain them. For those who cannot afford the services of physicians in private practice they can go to the Health Department at minimal or no cost.

The immunization required includes protection from polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, mumps, measles, german measles (rubella). Thanks to the availability and affordability of these immunizations most parents have never seen polio and diphtheria in their whole life.

During the physical examination many asymptomatic illnesses are discovered. The illnesses commonly found during these examinations are visual and hearing problems, skin diseases, urinary tract infections, anemia, hypertension and diabetes to name a few.

The early detection and treatment of these disorders and completion of immunizations provide a healthy and better learning environment for children.

Big Brothers, Sisters Host Benefit At Six Flags

Six Flags Great America and Big Brothers/Big Sisters will host the third annual Big Brothers/Big Sisters Labor Day Weekend at Great America, Sept. 5, 6, and 7, to benefit Big Brothers/Big Sisters agencies in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Special half price coupons are being distributed by participating Big Brothers/Big Sisters agencies, and all of Chicagoland Arby's Roast Beef sandwich shops. When these coupons are redeemed at the park's main gate, guests will receive $8 off the regular admission price of $15.96 (plus 40 cents tax). With every coupon used, Great America will make a donation to Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters is a volunteer organization serving youth through the warmth of a one-to-one friendship between an adult volunteer and a child, ages 5-14, from a single parent family. Each volunteer is committed to spend three to six hours a week with a Little Brother or Sister, caring, sharing experiences, and listening to the child's concerns.

As the relationship grows, the child experiences the warmth and friendship traditionally created by family environments. When challenged with the confusing demands of society, the sensitivity and simplicity of these relationships can provide the balance needed for a child to grow into a healthy, productive adult.

To help promote the event, coupons are being distributed by volunteers at eighteen participating agencies in Illinois and Wisconsin and all of Chicagoland Arby's Roast Beef sandwich shops. For additional information, call (312) 360-0770, or write Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lake County, 4213 Grove Ave., Gurnee, Ill. 60031.

Attendees also enjoyed a keynote speech given by Dr. William Oswald, director of the Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

Spring Grove Couple Achieve Sales Honors

Spring Grove residents Shirley and Rob Wojcicki were cited as top salespeople nationally for a company that sells oil paintings through home art shows.

According to Jan Madori Barbrow, president of Personal Preferences, Inc., the couple competed against more than 200 consultants covering a 12-state area to attain the honor.

The Wojcickis joined the Lisle-based company in 1980, and achieved fourth place for 1987 with year-end sales totaling $71,206. In 1981 and 1985, they won first place for company sales.

As a reward for their tremendous sales effort, Barbrow presented the couple with a gold ring set with 20 full-cut diamonds. The Wojcickis were also awarded a 13-inch color television set and a trip for two to Hawaii.

Since they are able to set their own hours, the couple has plenty of time to devote to their family. Rob is employed as a carpenter. They have two children; Michelle, 7, attends Richmond Grade School. Her brother Robbie is four years old.

Though home art shows keep them rather busy, the Wojcickis still find time to be active in the Richmond Community Church.

Offer Mortgage Deal For Buyers

Cambridge Homes, Inc., developers of the Manor Homes of Cambridge Chase in Mundelein, is offering first-time buyers 30-year fixed rate mortgages at 8.2 percent.

"Through a special arrangement with the Illinois Housing Development Authority, we are able to offer this below-market rate financing with a minimum down payment of five percent on homes closed before Nov. 1," said Richard J. Brown, president of Cambridge Homes, Inc.

"This program allows first-time buyers who might have been marginally qualified before to buy a home. For those qualified at higher rates, they can consider buying a larger home for added personal comfort and tax advantage."

The Manor Homes of Cambridge Chase is a community of 175 manor condominiums in five homestyles, priced from $74,490 to $88,490.

"Our emphasis on buyer satisfaction at Cambridge Homes is reflected in the attention to detail and emphasis on design in every Cambridge Chase home," said Brown.

"The Cambridge Chase community also offers the peace and solitude of a quiet setting as well as easy access to major highways, shopping centers, medical facilities, and any other conveniences a homeowner may need," Brown added.

Brown noted that the demand for housing in the Lake County area has greatly increased due to the growth of the north suburban corporate corridor.

"It used to be that people wanted to live close to the city for career opportunities," he said, "but with the expansion of business in the suburbs, more workers are driving from suburban home to suburban job."

All five floor plans are available at the Cambridge Chase community, with the Ashton in the lead as best-seller. Priced from $87,990, the Ashton has 1,270 square feet of living space with two bedrooms, den and two full baths, or three bedrooms and two full baths.

The living room is accented by an optional wood-burning fireplace and a patio or deck door that opens to outdoor living space. The kitchen features a U-shaped layout that defines the adjoining breakfast area.

Two secondary bedrooms are served by a full bath and the master bedroom includes its own master bath with walk-in closet. A utility room with a washer and dryer hook-up and linen storage add convenience to the home.

The four remaining floor plans available are the Sutton, a two-bedroom, one-bath home with 1,030 square feet of living space priced from $74,790; the Millford, a two-bedroom home with one and a half baths and 1,153 square feet of living space, priced from $80,490; the Montgomery, a two-bedroom, two-bath home with 1,242 square feet priced from $85,990; and the Mansfield, a three-bedroom home with two full baths, optional den and 1,276 square feet of living space priced from $84,990.

All Cambridge Chase homes feature decorator light fixtures, smoke detectors, telephone prewiring, wall-to-wall carpeting, no-wax tile in foyer and baths, and semi-gloss painted interior base and trim with prefinished oak doors.

Kitchens are finished with continuous clean gas range, range hood and fan, double bowl stainless steel sink, uni-lever faucet controls, frost-free refrigerator and freezer, multi-cycle dishwasher, rolled edge counter tops, and custom designed cabinets.

Cambridge Chase is located off Butterfield Rd. between Town Line and Winchester Rds. in Mundelein. Call (312) 367-3390 for more information.

Short Skirts, Sweaters, Stripes Sweep Stores

by GLORIA DAVIS

All the summer clothes that are left in the store, hanging under big sale signs, are looking a little the worse for the shop wear and new fall and winter duds are filling the racks.

Taking a gander at the goodies coming into Antioch's Jack's Four Squires, Barnstables, B. J.'s, the Globe and the Carousel, it seems that there are no favorite colors being touted by the clothing moguls for this season since ugliness.

Anyone one over 18, that isn't that one in 5,000 that has viewable knees, who listens to this fashion dictate, has not yet peaked fashionwise in knowing how to choose only clothes that compliment. They do not yet recognize fashion fads for what they are, fast money makers for the tasteless.

The Clothesworks, Hit or Miss and Fashions For Less at the discount center in Bristol are all featuring the biggest look of tops that are hand painted or covered with satin and lace appliques and glitz and glitters is still as popular whether worn with a long fluted skirt or a faded frosted denim one that barely covers the thighs.

Let's not pass-up those gorgeous jewel-toned real leathers and suedes, that is as long as your Mastercard balance will still allow their costly purchase.

And the animal influence is still everywhere, in dressy dresses, sweatshirts, seen either in animal caricatures or just replicas of the skin of the tiger, zebra, snake, etc.

Every time the animal skin regains popularity, I chuckle remembering the famous t-shirt adorned with a picture of an alligator wearing a picture of a man of his shirt pocket.

For several years, men's clothing has gone the way of the male animal, with male attire getting more varied and more colorful each season.

And according to Larry Hanson, manager of B. J.'s Fashions For Men in Antioch, the well dressed guy will be flaunting clothes with an Italian influence, the fuller drop shoulder, especially seen in sweaters. And the big sweater, in a large variety of patterns is probably the biggest thing in fall menswear.

"The stone and acid washed jeans that the juniors liked last year are being picked up by the more mature male this season," adds Hanson.

Although men always love the beiges, greys, navys and blacks, color, especially pastels, are running rampant in men's store this season.

The loose, semi-baggy pants with the tight ankle are still a top feature and the three piece suit of bygone years is still bygone, with vestless pinstripes still decorating the "power" suits of the businessmen.

When I Think About It

every color is to be seen in profuse array dangling for the customers' approval.

Sandy Sigmeler of Four Squires tells me that the biggest news in skirt length, straight skirts are supposed to be worn above the knees and full skirts are still waltz length.

I've seen fashion ads boldly proclaiming that every well-dressed gal should have at least one short skirt in her fall wardrobe. These advertising people are obviously assuming that the only people who are well dressed also have perfect bodies.

The first time the mini skirt appeared on the fashion scene in the 1960s, I was about a ton lighter, but I still never hiked my skirts up above the knees. One out of 5,000 women have attractive knees and wearing a skirt above them just points out their obvious the season which is being carried over even stronger from the summer lines, stone or acid washed denim in jeans, jackets, skirts, dusters and dresses.

These rack upon rack of frosted greys and blues have put denim back in the front of the fashion parade. Denim has always been to the U. S. what laces are to Switzerland and Spain, what linens are to Ireland, what wools are to England, etc.

Not since the designer jean bit the dust a few years ago have jean-like accouterments been so popular.

The fashion-wise buyers both in Antioch and across the stateline have gone along with their peers nationally in promoting and featuring the gorgeous sweaters and knit

New Attitude Emerges For Divorced Catholics

Fr. James Flosi, founder and director of the Chicago Archdiocese's Phoenix Ministry for Separated and Divorced Catholics, sees a positive atmosphere of understanding and enlightenment emerging within the church—its real teachings on divorce and family crisis are becoming more widespread, a hopeful sign for Catholics who have felt alienated from their church for too long.

The support available to people dealing with crisis and change plays a major role in the widening format of the Phoenix Ministry and its Annual Conference.

In its 9th Annual Phoenix Conference, the Phoenix Ministry has established the theme "Transition to Fulfillment." The conference will be held Oct. 2 and 3 at the Hyatt Regency Chicago Hotel and will provide 24 workshop selections for people of all faiths who need strength in their changing lives. Keynote Speaker will be Richard M.

Daley, States Attorney of Cook County, an active legislator for strengthened child support and family-related law.

Heart Transplant Gives Man New Lease On Life

by KAREN WILTBERGER

Only eight months ago heart specialists told Fox Lake resident Richard Sullivan he had five months to live. The former Round Lake fireman and school board member was devastated. But on St. Patrick's Day, the Irishman had something to smile about—a new heart and a new chance on life.

Five months later, Sullivan lives everyday with a new outlook on life. The 55-year-old who had smoked at least two packs of cigarettes a day rigorously exercises at his Leisure Village home and says he feels 10 years younger.

"Look at me. I swim 25 laps in the swimming pool. I play golf. I walk five miles a day and I bought a 10-speed bicycle that I ride," Sullivan said. "People just can't believe that before I couldn't walk from my house to the car."

Though exercise and attitude contribute to his health, Sullivan admits it helps having a heart much younger than his original one.

"I got a 43-year-old heart," Sullivan said. "Neighbors said I'm going to get thrown out. You have to be 55 to live in Leisure Village."

Sullivan, who is six feet, five inches tall and weighed 277 pounds last winter, was told by doctors at St. Luke's Hospital in Milwaukee to be prepared for a long wait for a new heart. They told him he must lose weight to have a chance of finding a donor close to his size.

So in two months, Sullivan dropped to 200 pounds. His heart came from a 43-year-old accident victim who weighed about the same.

After the heart transplant, Sullivan learned that he was the first "customer" of surgeon James E. Auer. He laughs now and said Auer did a fine job.

In fact, Sullivan has been serving as kind of an ambassador for Auer. The retired Sullivan counsels other local people in need of heart transplants. He also urges people to donate their organs.

Last week, Sullivan was visiting a Mundein man in need of a new heart.

"I ask them, 'What choice do you have?' He sees how good I feel and he gets a better outlook," said Sullivan.

Sullivan received a heart through a national computerized network called the Organ Procurement Transplantation Network (OPTN). He was one out of 300 to 400 people nationwide in need of hearts.

Joan Heimler, recovery coordinator for the St. Luke's organ sharing network, said the computer system matches donors with recipients according to blood type, age, height and weight. The status and region of the recipients are also listed.

"Once the donor and the recipient match, we try to get the patients to the hospital as soon as possible," said Heimler.

People who would like to donate their organs need to sign the back of their driver's licenses, she said. Heimler emphasized that donors tell family members because a signature alone does not guarantee that organs will be arranged to be donated.

A lot of confusion accompanies a death and family members need to know that the decision has been made to donate organs, said Heimler, who just spent 26 hours coor-inating the organ donations of a young man.

"In this case," Heimler said, "the family is going to the funeral home today, but it helps them to know that their son is living on—his heart is in a father with a small child."

Sullivan, who spends a lot of time researching heart transplants, said he will speak to any individual or groups about heart transplants. His number is (312) 587-6277.

Sullivan says though he still gets scared at times, he has a new lease on life.

"I had five months to live, so said the doctors, now everyday is a new, beautiful experience," said Sullivan.

Use Business Judgement When Picking OB-GYN

by GARY S. MEYERS

Not too long ago, it was time for my wife and I to select an obstetrician-gynecologist. Like most people, we started by asking our "knowledgeable" friends who they had used.

Unfortunately, that's where we stopped. We did less real homework than we would have in buying a new car.

The details of our bad experience are irrelevant, but suffice it to say that we left our OB-GYN in my wife's eighth month of pregnancy because we completely lost faith in him.

The lesson we learned is that, as health-care consumers, we should have applied the same business sense we would have used in buying any other good or service.

Chances are that a pregnancy will turn out OK without any intervention on the part of doctors. Women have been delivering babies successfully for thousands of years without them. So, when shopping for an OB-GYN, you're looking for someone who will aid in the natural process—not interfere with it.

After some rather late-in-the-game research, we discovered some things you should keep in mind:

—Doctors are employees. "Interview the doctor as you would a new employee and take careful, complete notes," says Robert Mendelsohn, an M.D. and author of "Confessions of a Medical Heretic" (Contemporary Books, 1979).

Questionnaires my wife and I put together to interview physicians ran four pages, and the interviews went on for as long as an hour each.

Remember: You're the one paying the doctor's salary. If you're not important enough for him to give you some time, answers and respect, find that out now, before you are in the hospital.

Among the questions we asked were:

—Is the doctor board certified? Any doctor can declare himself a specialist, but board certification means that the physician has passed a test in the specialty and has been recognized by a state or local board of his peers in the specialty.

"There are only two reasons for an obstetrics specialist not to be board certified. Either he has not taken the test or he failed it," said Mendelsohn in an interview. "Neither is good."

You can check certification by calling your state or city board of obstetrics. Simply put, the best, most experienced doctors are certified. As it turned out, not all of the doctors were certified in the first "socially prominent" practice we investigated.

—How many deliveries does the doctor perform in a year? A good number would be 100 or more, said one former head of obstetrics at a major U.S. hospital.

—If the mother is high-risk, i.e. small in stature, unhealthy or has a history of lost pregnancies or other possible medical complications, can the doctor handle it? High risk delivery is a specialty unto itself; most OB-GYNs are not up to it.

—What percentage of the doctor's patients develop infections?

—What percentage of the patients have a Caesarean section? Especially with malpractice in the air, many doctors perform C-sections when they're not necessary; they're quicker, easier, and less complicated for them.

The Illinois Department of Health reports that of the 170,336 births in the state in 1986, 14 percent were primary C-sections (first for the mother) and 9 percent were repeat C-sections.

—Once a C-section is performed, will you ever be able to deliver naturally?

"Most OBs, 90 percent, will say no," said Mendelsohn. This is a myth; many women can still bear children naturally after a C-section, but some doctors don't want you to know about it, since it's simpler for them to do another C-section the next time.

—What percentage of the doctor's patients have episiotomies? While most births entail episiotomies, they are not always necessary, especially if the doctor takes his time, really helping the mother deliver. Again, it comes down to how much time, patience and understanding your doctor is willing to give you for his fee.

—Does the doctor use anesthetics or labor-inducing drugs during delivery? When? In most cases you don't need them. Be mindful that anesthetics work on the baby the same way they do on the mother.

—Will the doctor consult with you in advance on the different methods of delivery? Or is there only one way-his?

—When and how will the doctor use an internal fetal monitor? Even though we used an internal monitor, which pierces and attaches to the baby's scalp, they are not always necessary and certainly not necessarily routine. Often, an external monitor, which consists of electrodes strapped to the mother, is sufficient.

—What does the doctor recommend that the mother eat during pregnancy? Too many doctors have little or no background in nutrition. Don't let anybody kid you: Your baby (and his brain and body development) are what the mother eats.

Our first doctor did not even recommend the mandatory quart of milk each day. Nor did he suggest substances to avoid, such as caffeine.

—Medical records. Ask to see a copy of the doctor's typical medical record form. Is it well organized, like a pilot's pre-flight check-list? Are the necessary questions specified? Can the data be easily compared from one visit to the next?

Beware of a blank sheet with nothing more than your name address and billing code, especially in practices where patients see several doctors during the course of the pregnancy.

You might want to interview some delivery-room nurses. Ask them who they would use for themselves. They might also tell you who they wouldn't use.

"Check with midwives who perform deliveries at home," said Mendelsohn. "They know which doctors are the most conservative and really give the patients what they want."

Reader questions will be answered and may appear in this column, when mailed to Gary Meyers at 20 West Hubbard St., Chi., IL 60610.

Soo Line Nets Profit From Performance

Improved performance from railroad operations helped Soo Line Corporation post a profit of $2 million or 21 cents per share in the second quarter, its first profitable quarter in a year, Dennis M. Cavanaugh, chairman and chief executive office has announced.

Results compare to second quarter 1986 net income of $2.6 million or 28 cents per share. The 1986 second quarter was profitable due to an initial pre-tax gain of $9.7 million from the sale of Soo's headquarters building.

"Substantial improvement in transportation operating income helped Soo to report a second quarter profit this year compared to 1986 when sale of the company's headquarters building was the reason the Corporation had a profit," Mr. Cavanaugh said.

"The second quarter transportation results are Soo's best since its acquisition of the Milwaukee Road and show the positive effects of programs to lower employment, reduce expenses, and bring added business on line."

Operating income from transportation operations was $8.7 million in the current year's quarter compared to $2.5 million in the second quarter on 1986.

Total operating revenues for the second quarter of 1987 were $158 million compared to $165 million in the 1986 quarter. Total carloads handled for the quarter were up 10 percent in comparison with 1986.

There were carload gains across a broad range of commodities including grain, coal, chemicals, lumber and printing papers. In the intermodal area, container movements were above the 1986 quarter but total trailers handled decline.

Overall carload and intermodal revenue per unit was down seven percent in the second quarter from the year-earlier level.

Total operating expenses for the quarter were down four percent from the prior year's quarter despite the volume growth and modest inflation between periods.

Real estate revenues amounted to $4.8 million in this year's quarter and include $3.0 million in income from several large fiber optic and power line easements which were granted.

By comparison, real estate revenues including the gain from sale of the headquarters building amounted to $11.1 million in the 1986 quarter.

Soo had a net loss of $540,000 or six-cents per share in the first half of 1987, compared to net income of $570,000 or six-cents per share in the same period of 1986.

Total operating revenues for the first six months of 1987 were $309 million, down five percent from six months revenues of $326 million in 1986.

Indians Make Regionals, Eliminated In 3 Games

Although the Gurnee Indians were eliminated in three games at the Stan Musial American Amateur Baseball Congress regional tournament, manager Bill Stranowicz is satisfied with making the post-season tourney.

"We're happy to be in the tournament. This is the first time Gurnee has made the post-season tournament. It was a good experience," Stranowicz said.

The Indians opened the regional tourney at Park Ridge with a 5-4, 10-inning loss to the Barnstormers. Gurnee rebounded the next game to post a 13-5 win over the Dodgers but the Barnstormers then eliminated Gurnee 5-4 Sunday.

"They have more depth. Their players have all played college ball. We match up to them to a certain point. The difference is pitching. We ran out of pitching and they seemed to keep having pitchers come in from the bullpen," Stranowicz said of the Barnstormers.

Gurnee ended its season with a 15-11 record.

In the first game against the Barnstormers, a team made up of Northwestern University players, Gurnee held a 2-0 lead through four innings as Maury Sage was pitching well. The Barnstormers, who eventually won the tourney to advance to the state meet in Waukegan, rallied for a 3-2 lead. A home run by Stranowicz in the ninth inning tied it at 4-4 before The Barnstormers won the game in the 10th.

Against the Dodgers, a team from Chicago, Vice Gawerecki was the winning pitcher. Leading the offensive attack was Jerry Brown with two home runs, Mike Foote, a Warren High grad, had two doubles as adid Mark Ring.

Gurnee made the tourney thanks to a tight 7-6 win over North Chicago.

Gurnee surrendered five runs in the first inning, but then recovered. Starting pitcher Craig Prather clubbed a home run. Stranowicz hit a homer and Ring was three-for-four.

Highland Park won the completion of a tie game 8-7 and a regularly scheduled game 8-3. With the wins, Highland Park claimed second place in the Shoreline over Gurnee.

Prather was the team's top pitcher with a 7-4 record. Todd Parola, a Grayslake High School graduate who plays for Indiana University, hit an even .400 to lead the team in hitting. Stranowicz belted eight homers to lead the team in that category.

"We started slow, 2-6 at the start of the year but we had a seven-game winning streak and that put us in contention," Stranowicz said.

Fans, Fridge & Flutie: Must Be Training Camp, '87

Way back when - when the "Fridge" Perry was a little tike, training camps came and went pretty much unnoticed. Oh, maybe a surprise rookie here or there would break a lineup, but the days of six exhibition games, everything was pretty well set.

Not anymore.

"Platteville, Wis. Welcomes The Chicago Bears" the sign reads, proudly displayed across the main street.

And for 20 days this month, Platteville, Wis. is indeed the place to be for Chicago Bear fans, media and "training camp groupies". Some thoughts after spending a few hours there:

A casual observer finds the "groupies" to be most interesting bunch of all. They sit on the sides of the streets - maybe Halas Lane or Payton Parkway (yes, they renamed the streets when the Bears moved from Lake Forest to spend the summer in southwestern Wisconsin) hoping to get a glimpse of their favorites. They look for motor scooters - several of the Bears have one since Jim McMahon made them fashionable a year or so ago - waving to Dan Hampton, Matt Suhey or Payton.

Some will sit on a hill for more than two hours just hoping to see the team arrive for the afternoon practice. Bear officials report this day - the fifth official day of practice - was the most attended by fans yet.

Most carry notepads, hoping for that elusive autograph.

Kathy Lawrence of McHenry went one step farther. She had the usual Bear apparel on - but also had a sign: "McHenry, IL loves the Bears. Superbowl bound 1987-88". It was the only sign of the day.

"I wanted to show the team someone from close to home was here. I'm really glad I had a sign," she said.

Jim Harbaugh, the Bears rookie quarterback hoping to beat out Mike Tomczak, Doug Flutie, Steve Fuller for the No. 2 spot behind McMahon, signed first. When it was time to go home later that afternoon, several others signed.

Vendors, of course, are in prominent places - if you want a $1 pop (hint: walk into the Platteville gym and you can get one for 50 cents). Yearbooks seemed to be hot items this day.

Merchants in town of course were capitalizing on the influx of tourists from the south. Bear penants, clothes, pictures, you name it - dotted the storefronts. When the New Orleans Saints came to town attempted to do the Wisconsin version of Mardi Gras. The local Chamber of Commerce expects 2,000 visitors all told before the Bears return to Lake Forest Aug. 20.

Lest we forget, there was a matter of a football practice or two to watch this day as well.

This was The Day The Fridge Returned - when head coach Mike Ditka inserted William Perry back into the backfield after a year's absence.

"What the play dictates, he will do. I'll teach him the fullback position and he'll have to go from there," Ditka said.

Ditka proclaimed the two-drill day "the best so far" - and that included the five qb's battling for two jobs.

"I felt more relaxed out there today," candidate Flutie said.

51 Alleged Eyesores Get Documented

Note: This is the 17th in a series of articles on building and zoning violations in Lake County.

by LARRY WITTNEBERT
Fifty-one alleged violations of Lake County building and zoning codes have been compiled along with accompanying photographs.

A concerned resident provided Lakeland Newspapers with the list as well as the photographs.

In providing the information, that person noted that the building and zoning dept. reportedly only responds to information from the county board, townships and associations.

Thus, the alleged violations may have little chance of seeing action from the department because that person was only one individual.

Alleged violations span township boundary lines and pinpoint nuisances in residential areas.

Many report property blighted by debris while others note junk vehicles defacing neighborhoods.

Some asess point out businesses operating in residential areas and still others report allegedly illegal buildings.

In preceding articles, residents have complained about such business operating in residential areas. They have complained about junk cars and they have complained about debris.

The 51-case list of alleged violations includes different addresses in unincorporated areas.

Lakeland Newspapers intends to publish photos of at least some of those cases.

Edison Reports Record Demand

Commonwealth Edison announced that another new all-time record for electricity demand has been set, surpassing the previous mark set two weeks earlier.

Peak demand on Aug. 3 reached 15,439,000 kilowatts between 1 and 2 p.m., and then 15,683,000 between 2 and 3 p.m., breaking the previous record of 15,367,000 kilowatts on July 20.

Edison's service territory has experienced 30 days of 90-degree or higher temperatures and stifling humidity. Company officials recommend that customers take special measures to get the most for their cooling costs.

Because air conditioners operate most efficiently when the temperature outside is lower, Edison recommends pre-cooling the rooms in the home used most often. The company also suggests keeping the outer sections of air conditioning units free of debris.

Export Seminar

The Lake County Economic Development Commission will host an "Introduction to Exporting" seminar from 7 to 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 16, at the College of Lake County. The seminar, designed to introduce businesses to exporting products or services, will feature speakers Robin Mugford, trade specialist with the U.S. Dept. of Commerce, and George Emerle, international marketing manager for Mazer Chemicals, Inc. A question-and-answer session will follow each speaker. Cost is $10, and includes continental breakfast. To register, call the College of Lake County's Center for Economic Development, (312) 223-3615.

Lake County Children Go LEGO Crazy At Mall

by GLORIA DAVIS

Not since the days of the erector sets and those tall boxes of Lincoln Logs have kids taken to a building toy like they have to LEGOs. Every kid has a container of these multicolored squares of plastic that have knobs and holes in corresponding places so they lock into each other.

Hawthorn Center has been featuring the "LEGO Showcase" with a giant replica of the National Capitol Building in Washington, D. C., along with a contest offering a trip to the Scandinavian Countries and a tour of the LEGO Factory in Denmark. The display has drawn children devoted to LEGO building and their parents in droves.

Last week, the Junior Lego Display took place on the level just above the display of the Capitol Bldg.

There were 600 children from all over Lake County that brought their favorite LEGO creations for all to see.

Each brilliantly colored edifice was marked with it's creator's name, place of residence and age.

Angie Maras, public relations-Hawthorn

Associates, reports that the LEGO displays, especially the junior ones, had the mall crowded with gapers.

There were four winners in the three junior LEGO categories (3-5, 6-9, 10-14) among the winners of the drawing were Cory Flannigan, 4, of Lindenhurst, who won four passes to Six Flags Great America; Maxine Olsen, 10, Antioch, who won a $20 LEGO gift certificate; and Bryan Smith, 4, Mundelein, who got lunch and passes to the Plitt Theaters for four.

The horseshoe display that rimmed the upper level of the mall's center court was laden with brightly colored LEGO works of art. There were small airplanes and other vehicles, tall buildings and small buildings, and complete towns and space stations from some of the older children.

Some of the creations even had moving parts such as the house with the whirling windmill in its peaked dormer.

There was no competition here, for what judge could choose one of the entries over the other, after all a beautiful LEGO structure is in the eye of the beholder.

Christian Music Coming

As part of JOYFEST III at Six Flags Great America, Aug. 29-30 contemporary Christian rock group Petra will be appearing on Saturday, Aug. 29.

Six Flags To Present Christian Rock Artists

Contemporary Christian rock artists Petra and Andrae Crouch will headline Six Flags Great America's Joyfest III music celebration on Saturday, Aug. 29 and Sunday Aug. 30, in Pictorium Plaza.

Saturday's concert begins at 2 p.m. with special guest Priscilla Engle. Perhaps best known for her hit single "To Live Is Christ", she plans to release a new album this year.

Petra takes the stage next with songs from their popular album, "Back To The Street". It features solid hits like "You Are I Am", "King's Ransom" and "Alter Ego".

Both Campus Life and Charisma Magazine voted Petra the "Best Christian Band" last year.

The second big day of music begins at 2 p.m. with Leon Patillo. A former singer with the group Santana back in the 70's, his latest album "Love Around The World" contains songs that offer encouragement and joy.

Six-time Grammy Award winner Andrae Crouch winds up the weekend music festival. Crouch says his most memorable project came when he was commissioned by Stephen Spielberg and Quincy Jones to serve as gospel historian for the film "The Color Purple".

He also co-wrote, "Maybe God is Trying to Tell You Something", one of the most poignant songs in the movie.

Great America is located midway between Chicago and Milwaukee on Rte. I-94 in Gurnee. The park is open daily through Labor Day, and then weekends only through Oct. 4.

Award Orchestra For Kids Konkert Series

The Zion Chamber Orchestra received a certificate of achievement in the Governor's Home Town Awards Program in recognition of outstanding community achievement.

The award-winning project was the annual Zion Chamber Orchestra's "Kid's Konkert" series. In the past eight years, approximately 9,000 children from Zion, Beach Park and Waukegan schools have attended these concerts.

Teachers and administrators enthusiastically responded to these programs, which run the gamut from chamber music to operas and musicals, to pieces written especially for children such as "Peter and the Wolf."

Before each concert, a six-page study guide is prepared by Maestro Timothy Allen, and copies are distributed to each student and teacher. A teacher's guide and listening cassette are issued.

Schools receive the study materials four weeks in advance of the concert to help prepare them for the concert. Enthusiastic orchestra musicians take vacation days from their places of employment to volunteer their time for these concerts.

The programs have had tremendous value in raising the consciousness of students to classical music and its many rewards. Former Mayor Howard Everline endorsed the Kids' Konkerts as "a project which demonstrates the best efforts of our community to work together for the common good and for our future."

Zion Chamber Orchestra is a community-minded organization, founded as an outreach ministry of the Christian Catholic Church. Its professional and amateur musicians are drawn from Zion and surrounding communities, and include faculty and students of the Zion Conservatory of Music.

The orchestra opens its 10th anniversary season with a concert on Labor Day at 7 p.m. For more information, call (312) 746-1411.

Nature Singer Set For Ryerson Conservation

Nationally known nature singer Billy B. Brennan will perform a family concert at the Edward L. Ryerson Conservation Area in Deerfield on Saturday, Sept. 12. Beginning at 7 p.m. in the Preserve's Arena, he will combine song and dance in a participatory performance that is both entertaining and educational.

Based in Maryland, he has thrilled audiences in more than 30 states with environmental hits such as "The Bog Jog," "Do the Dragonfly," and "When My Shoes are Loose."

His repertoire swings from the zanily educational "Romp in the Swamp" to the outright hilarious, as when Bambl, one fed-up fawn, strides mightily into encroaching civilization as...you guessed it... "Bambo"! Songs embrace folk, rock, reggae, rap and anything else he comes across.

He has played special engagements at the Kennedy Center, Smithsonian Institution, Wolf Trap Farm Park, and National Theatre.

Billy B's four children's albums teach about photosynthesis, food chains, acid rain and more.

In 1980, he was commissioned to create an educational film for fourth through sixth graders about trees. This resulted in the widely acclaimed "Singing Tree," a 14-minute film produced and funded by the US Dept. of Agriculture and Wisconsin Public Television.

Judy Braus, editor of Ranger Rick Magazine produced by the National Wildlife

Federation said, "Billy B. is an extremely talented environmental educator. He'll get you and your kids turned on to swamps, trees, ecology and anything else he sings about. His enthusiasm and vibrant personality are unbeatable."

Sponsored by the Friends of Ryerson Woods, his concert is for people of all ages. The fee is $2 per person ($1 for Friends members) with a maximum fee of $5 per family. For reservations call (312) 948-7750.

Ryerson Woods is located on Riverwoods Rd. in Deerfield, between Deerfield and Halfday Rds. Normally open until 5 p.m., the gates will re-open at 6 p.m. for this evening program.

Lake County Expo Presents Annual RV-Boat Show

The fourth annual RV, Camping and Boat Round-Up, sponsored by Lake County Expo, is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 20, through Sunday, Aug. 23, at the Lake County Fairgrounds.

This round-up promises to be the best one yet with both new and pre-owned units on display and available for purchase. In fact, this is the first opportunity the RV dealers have to exhibit their 1988 models.

In addition, many exhibitors will be on hand to show crafts, products and services that appeal to everyone.

The entertainment for the four-day show follows a general western theme with each day being planned for a specific audience. Thursday is Seniors Day, and all seniors will be admitted for half price. Friday is Vietnam Veterans' Day; Saturday is Vacation on Wheels Day; and Sunday is Family Day.

Among the entertainment events are a chili making contest, a hot pepper eating contest, water fights, and live music.

Admission to the Round-Up is $4 per person, with children age 10 and under admitted free when accompanied by a parent. Special discount coupons for $1 off the admission price are available from participating dealers in and around Lake County.

Exhibitors who wish to join the Round-Up may call Jeff Wolf at (312) 680-9786 for rates and space information.

Everyone is invited to join the fun from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Aug. 20 through 22, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Aug. 23 at the fairgrounds, Rtes. 120 and 45 in Grayslake.

Rained-Out Cryan' Shames Set New Concert Date

The Fiesta Days Board is pleased to announce that a rain date has been arranged for the Friday night live concert by the Cryan' Shames that had to be cancelled during Fiesta Days. Sept. 5 is the date, same time, same place, 7:30-11:30 p.m. at Petersen Park.

The crowd that had gathered at Petersen Park on July 24 were true "Shames" fans, anxious to hear the group; not only their famous "Sugar and Spice" but also "Could Be We're In Love", "Up on the Roof", "Mr. Unreliable", "First Train to California", and many selections from "A Scratch in the Sky" and their "Synthesis" albums. But the weather man had other ideas.

In spite of the attempt to postpone the beginning of the concert and substitute two sets for one long set, the efforts were futile as the lightning threatened equipment and people, and caused the evening to be cancelled.

The good news is that a slice of Fiesta Days will be available five weeks after Fiesta Days ended its run for '87.

On Sept. 5 fans will have the opportunity to enjoy Tom Doody and Jim Pilster (a.k.a. Toad and J.C. Hooke), original members of the group and the mellow voices in perfect harmony that create the famous "Shames" sound. The Fiesta Days Board is pleased that the city council has granted this re-scheduled date. Vendors will be similar to those at Fiesta Days.

All are invited to come and enjoy an evening of nostalgia with the new Cryan' Shames playing such hits as "We Could Be Happy", "Greenburg, Glickstein, Charles, David Smith and Jones", "I Wanna Meet You", and "Dennis Dupree from Danville", and many others.

As will all Fiesta Days events, there will be no admission charge, but the Fiesta Days Board does encourage everyone to patronize the vendors at Petersen Park that evening. McHenry is at the junction of Rtes. 31 and 120.

'Odd Couple' To Stay At Grand Hotel Until Aug. 30

MEM Productions' latest offering of "The Odd Couple" by Neil Simon is ready to "hit the boards." Director Mickey Mandel has announced the cast of this delightful comedy, which opened Friday, July 31, at the Grand Hotel in Wauconda and running through Saturday, Aug. 30.

Oscar Madison is being played by Mundelein's Rick Mohr, who recently appeared in Pullman Player's "Death Trap." Felix Unger is Harry Bartlett of McHenry who, along with Colleen Jordan (Gwendolyn Pigeon) was just seen in "Same Time Next Year." The other Pigeon sister, Cecily, is portrayed by Kathi Kramer of Lake Villa.

To fill out the balance of the cast, Wauconda's Phread Kosmach (Vinnie), Ron Casey of Wildwood (Ron), and Fox Lake resident Gerry Mandel (Murray the Cop) are studiously playing poker to enable them to give a true portrayal of their parts as card players.

Reservations are available by phoning (312) 526-5582.

Foxfire Rehearses 'On Pond'

Foxfire Productions is presenting Ernest Thompson's "On Golden Pond" until Sept. 6 at the Shady Lane Dinner Theatre on Rte. 20 in Marengo with performances at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 4:30 p.m. on Sunday.

This delightful comedy is about lovable but crotchety 80-year-old Norman Thayer, Jr., who is toying with senility but finds that he's never too old to change his outlook on life.

"On Golden Pond" is directed by Ferraro and will delight the whole family. Tickets are $8.50 and $10 for theatre only and dinner/theatre packages are available by calling (815) 568-7218 for reservations.

MARQUEE

INNERSPACE (PG - Warner Bros.) Starring Martin Short, Meg Ryan and Dennis Quaid. ★★

By J.T. YURKO

In "Innerspace," director Joe Dante and producer Steven Spielberg take the old adage "let's get small" to heart. The movie is a comedy just this side of a comic book, a remarkably precise blend of "Fantastic Voyage" and "All of Me."

The movie's hero, Navy Lt. Tuck Pendleton (Dennis Quaid) is the subject of a military miniaturization project, planned to prevent a "shrink gap" between the U.S. and unfriendly powers. But at the precise moment of shrinkage, the lab is raided by industrial spies led by the villainous Victor Scrimshaw (Kevin McCarthy), and Pendleton is accidentally injected into the body of grocery clerk Jack Putter (Martin Short).

Understandably, the hypochondriac Putter is surprised when Tuck tries to communicate. He wants his body all to himself again. But Scrimshaw and his cohorts have stolen the microchip that can reverse the process, and what's worse, Tuck has less than a day's supply of oxygen. So Tuck and Putter (working together, of course) join Tuck's wife Lydia (Daphne Maxwell) in an antic, frantic pursuit of the crucial chip.

All the actors gleefully overplay their roles, especially McCarthy, who dresses in white but otherwise is the classic caped, mustache-twirling scoundrel. As Turk, Quaid acquires some of the sensitivity of an underdog. Conversely, Short's Putter picks up on Turk's natural bravado. After years of performing on television, Short (who made his film debut in last year's "Three Amigos") may become a first-rank movie star.

Dante ("Gremlins") excels at lowbrow cinema, and Spielberg's productions are tops for special effects. And the pairing of Short and Quaid makes this film an enjoyably silly misadventure.

Close To Perfection, That's Jamaica Vacation

by JIM WARREN
President, North Star Travel

Jamaica, the weather is always perfect, the sea a crystal blue, the people smiling and friendly and the sand a powder white.

Jamaica is, however, a large island and transportation is poor. It is for this reason most vacationers seldom travel far from their resort. Your choice of hotels and the area in which you want to stay is therefore an important one.

There are three main resort towns in Jamaica. They are Montego Bay, Ocho Rios and Negril. One is just right for you!

Most flights will arrive at the airport in Montego Bay. If you want to avoid the two-hour bus ride to the other resort areas, a hotel in Montego Bay is for you.

The more reasonably priced hotels in Montego Bay may not have their own private beaches. However, there is a very fine public beach known as Doctors Cove. This beach is also the site of some lively beach parties on Friday nights!

The more luxurious hotels such as Sandals and Jack Tar Village have their own beaches. These are also "all inclusive" resorts where all your meals, drinks and water-sports are included.

Ocho Rios is an ocean port where most of the cruise ships dock. It is larger and less rural than Montego Bay and offers more of the comforts of a city.

A spot in Ocho Rios which one should not miss is Dunes River Falls. Not only can one climb this 900-foot waterfall, but there is an excellent beach where the falls reach the ocean.

If you really want to get away from it all, Negril is the spot for you.

This is an arena of Jamaica first discovered by the flower children of the '60's. It boasts a seven-mile-long pure white beach. (Part of which is marked "Swim Suits Optional" for those wanting a 100 percent tan.)

The building codes dictate that no building can be taller than the tallest palm tree. Resorts run anywhere from small tree houses with no electricity to the luxurious Hedonism II.

If you have the time, by all means visit a couple of these areas. If you rent a car, remember Jamaicans drive on the left. I recently rented a car in Jamaica which had an interesting advertisement on the dashboard. It read "Remember, keep left. If you forget, call us, Joe's Wrecking".

ROCK TRACKS

By Rob Ferrus

Since his first song appeared on Billboard pop charts on March 3, 1956, Elvis Presley has remained the undisputed "King of Rock 'n' Roll." His influence on popular music will never be surpassed by any other performer, and Elvis remains the guy who has had more albums and singles on the charts than any other singer in music history. Incredibly, 10 percent of the all-time Top 100 hits of the rock era were recorded by Elvis Presley.

This August 16 makes ten years since the King's passing, and in honor of the man, RCA Records has released the "Elvis Presley Commemorative Issue." The set is comprised of four digitally remastered recordings, all of which were released this July in compact disk, cassette and LP configurations.

Two of the releases, "The Complete Sun Sessions," and "The Memphis Record," take their cue from two now-historic recording sessions including never-before-released versions of "I Love You Because" and "I'm Left, You're Right, She's Gone" (great title).

These tracks were recently discovered by Gregg Geller, who supervised the digital remastering and researched material for the project. The remaining two records pay tribute to Elvis' achievements as a hitmaker and are entitled, "The Number One Hits," of which there are 18, and "The Top Ten Hits," of which Elvis had 38 in his career.

Local Artist Ziembo Exhibits In Chicago

Dan Ziembo, a College of Lake County art instructor, is the featured artist at Roy Boyd Gallery, 739 North Wells, Chicago, through Sept. 8. The exhibit consists of about 25 paintings and works on paper, most of which were completed by the Lake Villa artist during a leave of absence from the college.

Ziembo's landscapes, often compared to those of Impressionist Claude Monet, shimmer with color and light. Sue Taylor of the Sun Times wrote of Ziembo's style, "Although they describe a scene, his dabs of acrylic remain separate and distinct. . . It's the tension between the individual marks and the overall unity of the scene that gives Ziembo's work its edge." His work has been featured in several one-person and group exhibitions, and a variety of works are part of corporate and museum collections.

The show is open to the public and admission is free. The Roy Boyd Gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. For more information, call (312) 642-1606.

Bill- Dalton Eases Into 'James Bond' Role

People have come to expect certain very specific things when they hear the phrase "James Bond movie" and the latest in the series, "The Living Daylights", does, for the most part, fulfill the requirements. In this one, of course, the biggest, most publicized issue is the fact that a new actor, Timothy Dalton, has assumed the role of James Bond and the question is: will Bond fans accept him in the role?

I had no trouble doing so and, judging by the movie's performance at the box office so far, (where it's reported to be "beating the living daylights out of the competition") that won't be much of a problem. Dalton seems to have stepped into the role and made it his own, effortlessly. Starting with the usual spectacular chase scene that opens each Bond movie, I was able to readily accept that this man is James Bond.

One can't help comparing the different Bonds to each other, although each one brings his own special touch to the role. Dalton plays a somewhat more serious Bond than Roger Moore did, and even though Moore made a few Bond films I really liked (especially "For Your Eyes Only"), I think I prefer Dalton's characterization, even on the basis of this one movie.

As for the movie itself, most of the things we have come to count on in the Bond movies are there. The usual supporting characters - M, Q, Miss Moneybags and CIA Agent Felix Leiter - are on hand to provide a touch of familiarity. Also, there are the stunt-filled action scenes, the most spectacular being one in which Bond fights an enemy while both are hanging from the back end of an airplane.

There are a couple of areas where the film falls short. The plot is hard to follow and is not on as grand a scale as usual - something about double-crossing arms dealers scheming to...do something. There is no one memorable, quirky villain with really BIG plans. There are "bad guys", but none who stand out as particularly interesting.

The title theme song (performed by A-Ha), another small but important mainstay of the series, is not quite as memorable as some, like "Live & Let Die" or "Nobody Does It Better".

Overall though, Dalton makes a good 1st impression as Bond and the movie is a fast-paced adventure with many exciting moments.

Matthew- Bond's Formula And Gun Never Miss

When the late Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce portrayed Arthur Conan Doyle's 'Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson' they left an indelible impression on the minds of audiences that has remained to this very day. Though scores of other actors have had a go at these parts over the years, their's was in some way, the 'definitive' portrayal.

The same could be said of Sean Connery's portrayal of Ian Fleming's 'James Bond'. Several other actors have done the part of 'James Bond', since the early '60's, but it is Connery that so many still hold as the image of '007'. I don't imagine that this in a real way will ever change for the vast number of 'James Bond' fans, but that does not prevent another from attempting the role, just as many have had their own go at 'Sherlock Holmes'. This point is an important one because in many ways, neither Connery's 'Bond' nor Rathbone's 'Holmes' were in strict fidelity with the novelized originals. It would seem then that it was the character that these two actors brought with them to these parts that made them 'definitive' and not any special appreciation of the authors' original intentions.

So the most recent '007' offering 'The Living Daylights' gives us Timothy Dalton as the '80's version of 'James Bond'. How does he fare? That is perhaps the most difficult question of all. If this film had been called say, 'Secret Agent X-10 And The Battle With The KGB', then one would need only concern oneself with its individual merits. That having been the case, this reviewer would have simply given it ★★★½, said something of 'X-10's' modern charm, mentioned the contorted plot, and remarked about the several awesome stunts performed in the course of the film. All in all, a pretty good action spy story. And, to an entire generation born in the 25 years since Connery first brought '007' to the screen, that would be perhaps the best route to take.

The 'Bond' films of the past decade or so, have lost some of the impact that the handfull of originals had on audiences of the early '60's. Films such as 'Dr. No', 'Gold Finger', and 'Thunderball' set the stage for an entire decade of 'spy operas', both in the movies and on tv. The likes of that will never be seen again. I guess 'Bond's' gun as well as formula never miss, even when he is someone else.

First Peek At '88 Boats Set For Racine Show

The Racine In-Water Boat Show, Aug. 20 through 23, is the first boat show to be held at the newly completed Racine on the Lake Marina and will provide the first look at 1988 boats and marine accessories.

"The beginning of the model year for the marine industry starts in the autumn months," said Jeff Napier, president of the National Marine Manufacturers Assn., producers of the show.

"Generally, 1988 models are introduced at the marine trade show which is held at McCormick Place every September. The Racine In-Water Boat Show coincides perfectly with the trade show dates and allows exhibitors to display their new products in Racine and then move the boats to McCormick Place for the trade show," Napier added.

"The Racine show is an excellent opportunity for boating enthusiasts to get a 'preview' of what's being introduced at the trade show this year," he said.

The show will feature hundreds of boats of all types and sizes, in water and on land. Stroll aboard a luxury 55-foot ocean yacht Super Sport, test sea legs on an Island Packet sailboat, and discover the possibility of owning a dream boat.

Among the boat manufacturers displaying at the show are Sea Ray, Bayliner, Bertram Yachts, Wellcraft, Thunderbird Formula, O'Day Sailboats, and many more.

In addition to marine lenders, the accessory tents will be filled with a wide variety of the newest marine accessories available, including yacht fittings, marine clothing, and nautical gift items.

Special events include free sailing seminars given by the American Sailing Assn. and a grand prize boat giveaway.

Show hours are noon to 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, Aug. 20 and 21; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 22; and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 23.

Admission is $5 for adults and $2 for children. For more details call (312)836-4740 or (414)634-8915, after Aug. 16.

10 Keys To Writing Successful Resume

Before you even begin writing a resume, do your homework. "First think about what you want to do and where you want to do it," said Larry Gladstone, president of the Houston division of Roth Young Personnel Service, a national job search firm. "A good resume must be shaped by what you want to accomplish, as well as by your personal strengths and weaknesses."

Study the field you want to go into. Get information on specific companies that interest you. Reams of information are available at most public libraries and in stockbrokers' offices.

Find someone who knows the field and discuss your resume. Get an objective appraisal of your job skills and personal attributes and how you can best present them to the employers receiving your resume.

Rule one. Never consult with co-workers or your supervisor when looking for a new job, unless everyone already knows that you are leaving. Such consultations can stymie your progress at your current job if you change your mind. You may even get fired.

Rule two. Resumes can be dangerous. If there is any way you can avoid sending a resume, don't send it—unless yours is very strong. Resumes never determine who gets the job, just who doesn't get the interview.

"With the overwhelming number of applicants for most good jobs, prospective employers view resumes as a means of screening out those candidates they feel are not worth the time to interview," said Gladstone.

Rule three. If possible, go directly to the executive with the job opening. Avoiding the personnel department may save some headaches and delays.

"Personnel department staffers often have different objectives than the executive who has the job opening and maybe even conflicts. This is especially true if the screeners are paid less than the job slot they are screening," said one compensation expert.

Rule four. Make the resume a fast, easy read. Make it brief, in outline form. Potential employers hate reading resumes. When reading resumes, harried executives typically have the concentration span of a gnat. So unless you grab their attention very quickly, you and your resume are bound for the circular file.

"Eliminate extraneous information. No one really cares where you went to grade school or that you like knitting or singing," said Gladstone.

Rule five. A strong resume has a better chance of getting the interview, but you must get the job yourself.

Don't be modest. Highlight your best points first, whether it's your experience, the college you attended, your grade-point average or even that you are good looking. (It may not be fair, but good looks can help get an interview, but be subtle about presenting it—use a photo or a "standard form" description i.e. height, weight, eye and hair color.) Put your weakest points last, if in fact they need to be included at all.

"The resume layout will vary with your abilities and the needs of your potential employer. They want to know what you that they need and how you can help them," said Gladstone.

"People making up their own resumes tend to be too modest. They don't set high enough job goals for themselves or market their talents and skills sufficiently," said John Mustard, Midwest regional director of Professional Resume Service, one of the nation's largest resume services.

On the other hand... "Young people often have expectations that are too high. I've seen more than a few 25-year olds lose a good opportunity because they wanted more pay, responsibility and authority than was justified, based upon their limited accomplishments," said Cambell. "Everyone must be prepared to pay their dues."

Rule six. Do not lie. While a reasonable coloring of past experience may get you that job interview, blatantly false statements on your resume may get you fired later on.

It costs more to fire someone than to hire them, so employers are doing more screening and checking of references and credentials than ever before," said Victor Lindquist, director of placement at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

Rule seven. Contact companies that may not be advertising for help. "Often openings are created by the availability of good personnel," said Gladstone. "Besides, if the job is not advertised the competition will be less."

"A major daily newspaper lists only about 15 percent of the jobs available in a given area, and the competition for those jobs is intense," said Mustard.

Rule eight. Keep your resume production simple. Good-quality white bond stationery, 8 and one-half by 11 inches, will do the trick. "A public stenographer (or a friend) who has a laser printer will do nicely," advised Gladstone. "You can have resumes custom-created for each company if need be, and each will look professional and individually tailored."

Rule nine. Include a well-thought-out cover letter. "A good cover letter can enable you to address the specific needs of that company, or individual, that you intend to reach," said Gladstone.

Rule 10. Be innovative through content, not form. "To make your resume stand out from the dozens or even hundreds that good jobs attract, you must be clear, concise and demonstrate that you can communicate. And, you must communicate that the package you offer fits their order neatly," said Gladstone.

For more information on writing resumes, try "The Perfect Resume" by Tom Jackson (Anchor Books, 1981) and "Does Your Resume Wear Blue Jeans" by C. Edward Good (Word Store, 1985). Also useful is "The Complete Job-Search Handbook" by Howard Figler (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1979).

Don't get discouraged by the obstacles. Every time you handle a difficulty, you gain an advantage over those who don't try.

Cambridge Homes Has New Models

Cambridge Country, a community of 300 single-family homes in Mundelein, has announced the grand opening of three new models available through Cambridge Homes, Inc.

These new models are representative of six alternate floor plans available, priced from $112,490 to $151,990.

"The availability of these models gives the consumer an opportunity to get a first-hand look at the quality craftsmanship that goes into the design and construction of a Cambridge Country home," said Richard J. Brown, president of Cambridge Homes, Inc.

"It also offers potential buyers a chance to envision themselves in that home so that they may imaginatively arrange their own furnishings and decide which floor plan best serves their needs."

Brown said that in addition to the superior design and quality construction of these homes, the Cambridge

Country community is in an ideal location for working and living.

"The Lake County area is booming with new businesses, recreational areas, shopping centers, top-rated school districts and many other facilities and conveniences to serve our new homeowners," said Brown.

Cambridge Country features three of its six available plans as models, with a variety of exterior elevations to please a wide array of tastes and lifestyles.

The Duntun plan, priced from $112,490, is a two-story home with three bedrooms, an open living/dining area, one and one-half to two and one-half baths, an eat-in kitchen and attached two-car garage. Options include a full basement, fourth bedroom, family room and a wood-burning fireplace.

An angled wall in the living room that flows into an open dining room highlights the Berkshire, priced from $119,490. A two-story home with three bedrooms, the plan features a large kitchen with expanded counter space for ease in food preparation.

A side of the kitchen counter opens to the breakfast nook, which asks in sunlight from a decorative window. On the upper level, two secondary bedrooms are served by a full bath with generous closet space and linen storage area.

A second full bath serves the master bedroom. Options for skylights, a full basement, a bay window, family room and fourth bedroom offer endless decorating possibilities.

Priced from $149,990, the Regency is a four-bedroom home with two and one-half baths and an attached two-car garage. A dramatic sunken living room, open to the dining room, creates an inviting atmosphere with an optional bay window showering the room with natural light.

The family room provides the perfect setting for casual entertainment with sliding glass doors that open to the back yard for outdoor barbecues and an optional wood-burning fireplace. The master suite features a private full bath.

In addition to the three new models, Cambridge Country offers three other floor plans. With three bedrooms and one and one-half baths, the two-story Mayfair is priced from $120,290 and has options for an additional bedroom with a private bath and basement.

The Brentwood two-story home, priced from $129,490, offers three bedrooms, one and one-half baths, and basement with options for an additional bedroom and bath on upper level.

Priced from $145,490, the Chatsworth is a two-story home with four bedrooms, two and one-half baths and basement with an optional family room. Each of the six floor plans are available in four different elevations.

Standard features in Cambridge Country homes include deluxe lighting fixtures, smoke detectors, television antenna, telephone prewire, wall-to-wall carpeting, vinyl no-wax tile in foyer, wood railings, oak interior trim, convenient laundry areas, designer wood cabinetry, formica counter tops and attached two-car garages.

College Helps Firms

The Procurement Assistance Office at the College of Lake County helped area business and industry secure over $8 million in federal and state contracts over the past year.

From July 1, 1986 to June 30, 1987, area companies received $8.2 million through assistance from the procurement program, according to Glen Morgan, training and development consultant for the Center for Economic Development.

Morgan, a federal procurement specialist, said 252 businesses made use of program services, and 16 companies secured 32 contracts.

The program has increased its computer capabilities over the past year in order to analyze federal procurement activity, and to handle the increase in use of services by area business and industry.

The program has also received a grant from the Dept. of Defense that allows it to lease a library of current military drawings and specifications and to subscribe to bid services.

Last spring, the program won an award for innovative operation from the National Assn. of Government Procurement Specialists.

"The goal of the program is to help business and industry land federal and state contracts," Morgan said. "The more contracts, the more companies are able to expand their workforce and increase their profits."

For more information, call Morgan at the Procurement Assistance office in the Center for Economic Development, (312) 223-3615.

Baxter Firm Completes Caremark Acquisition

Baxter has completed its acquisition of Caremark, Inc. for approximately $550 million in common stock.

"The addition of Caremark firmly establishes Baxter as the leading supplier of products and services for health-care rendered outside the hospital," said Baxter Chairman and CEO Vernon R. Loucks Jr. "Our existing operations and those of Caremark are highly complementary."

Loucks said that the market for "alternate-site" care-treatment given in places other than hospitals-it is one of the fastest growing in health care.

"Economic pressures are encouraging cost-effective care outside hospitals for seriously and chronically ill patients, who already consume more than 50 percent of the nation's health-care dollar," he said.

"Baxter's strategy is to provide the best value and quality in products and services for these patients."

Caremark stockholders approved the transaction at a special meeting on July 31. Baxter will exchange 0.871057 shares of its common stock for each share of Caremark. About 22 million Baxter shares will be issued.

Caremark becomes part of Baxter's Alternate Site Group, which offers supplies and services for a variety of out-of-hospital settings, including nursing homes, surgicenters, physicians' offices, outpatient clinics, dialysis centers and the home.

It provides nutritional, respiratory, cancer, pain, dialysis and other therapies to patients at home and offers services to help corporations manage health-care costs.

Caremark, headquartered in Newport Beach, Calif., provides specialized medical services and products to chronically and seriously ill patients at home.

Through its subsidiary, The Health Data Institute, Caremark also provides management and analytical systems to health insurance companies and self-insured corporations.

Baxter, through its domestic and international subsidiaries, develops, manufactures and markets a diversified line of health-care products, systems and services.

Construction Underway For Antioch Center

A 22,900 square foot retail center is under construction in Antioch, according to Stuart Lenhoff, Peter Childs and Jamie Childs, partners of Horizon Development of Schaumburg. The project, Towne Square Shopping Center, is located at the intersection of Rtes. 173 and 83.

The purchase of this two-acre shopping center site in Antioch, by Horizon Development, marks the second site made by this new retail developer in less than a year after its inception. Construction financing has been secured through Brierly Mortgage Corp. by Skip Weiss of Cohen Financial. Plans call for the project's completion in late fall.

Childs Realty Group of Schaumburg was the co-broker with Century 21, Michael Warren of Antioch for the sale of the property. Childs Realty Group will be handling the exclusive leasing for Towne Square. Jamie Childs, vice president of leasing for Childs Realty Group, stated that he anticipates at least a 60 percent lease-up prior to the center's completion based on current leasing negotiations under way.

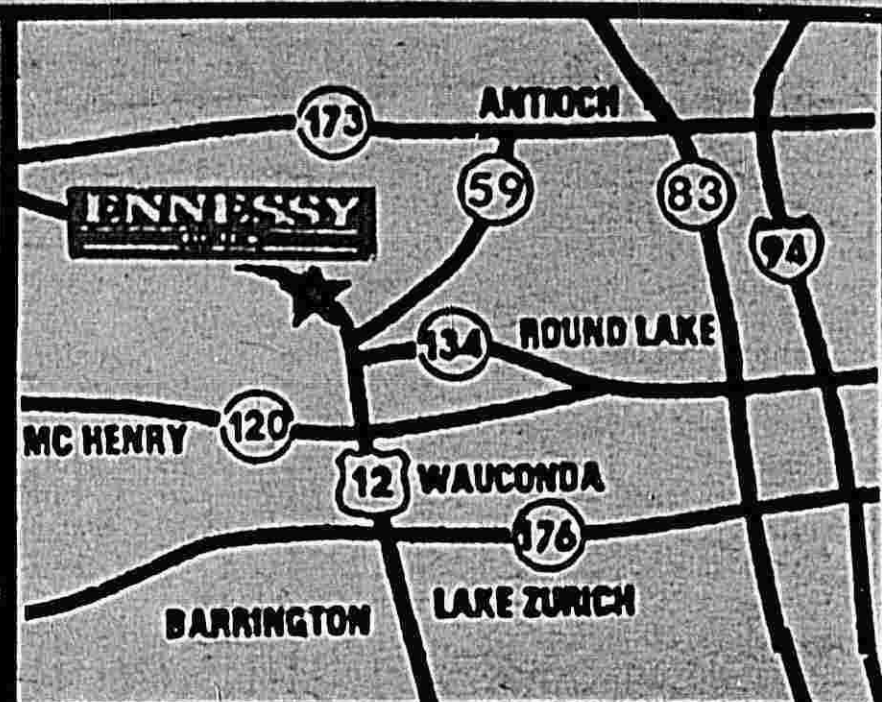

The Antioch property is part of a larger parcel which will encompass a national motel also breaking ground in July. In addition, two new fast food operations surround the Towne Square; Hardee's and Kentucky Fried Chicken.
